

REQUEST FOR CONFERENCE SUPPORT

Mission

CURE Epilepsy's mission is to find a cure for epilepsy, by promoting and funding patient-focused research. CURE Epilepsy is proud to have a history of supporting scientific conferences and workshops that advance the field of epilepsy research and work towards the ultimate goal of achieving No Seizures, No Side Effects.

Objectives

The key priorities for providing conference support are to:

- Attract and inspire exceptional science
- Foster interdisciplinary exchange and collaboration
- Promote progress toward developing cures for epilepsy
- Enable exchange between basic scientists and clinicians
- Offer the opportunity for young investigators to actively engage with the epilepsy community
- Provide the opportunity for participants to meaningfully network
- Promote an emphasis on sharing unpublished data
- Integrate patient experience and perspectives
- Provide for the opportunity to raise awareness of CURE Epilepsy and our mission

Requests for conference support may be made at any time. Support is based upon available funds.

Application

Requests for conference support should be submitted in letter format (2 pages maximum) including the following information:

- Title, location, date, anticipated attendance, list of scientific organizers
- A short abstract (maximum 200 words) describing the mission of the conference, including description of target audience
- Conference program including presenters and titles (if known at time of request)
- Draft budget (including other sponsors already identified to support the conference) and level of support requested
- In addition, make sure to address how this conference/workshop meets CURE Epilepsy's objectives as outlined above.

Inquiries

Completed applications and all inquiries should be emailed to the CURE Epilepsy Research Team at research@CUREepilepsy.org.
